John Marcallino Charged With Embezzling

WARRANT SWORN OUT BY COUNTY ATTORNEY BROWN

Well-Known Honolulu Said to Have Sold Stock Belonging to J. J. Egan, Coast Resident, and Used Money Himself; Shortage Estimated at About $30,000

SITUATION BECAME KNOWN WHEN EGAN ASKED FRIEND

Wrote to Acquaintance to Get Stock; Marcallino Then Admitted, it is Alleged, He'd Sold Securities; About 1600 Shares of Brewery and Oahu Railway Involved; Marcallino Resigns Court Clerkship

John Marcallino, chief clerk in Judge Whitney's division of the circuit court and one of Honolulu's best-known young men, is facing charges of embezzlement of approximately $30,000.

He is declared to have converted to his own use money derived from the sale of stock which he held in trust for J. J. Egan, former Honolulu resident now living on the coast. The alleged embezzlement has nothing to do with court matters, it was emphatically stated by Judge Whitney today.

County Attorney Brown swore out a warrant early this afternoon for the arrest of Marcallino, charging him with embezzlement in the sum of $30,000. The warrant was given to Deputy Sheriff Asch to serve. Marcallino was at his home, near 1541 Fort street, when the warrant was sworn out and Deputy Asch served it on him there.

He was taken to the police station at 2 this afternoon and booked.

The county attorney moved rapidly and vigorously today in handling the Marcallino case. Attorney Brown was trying a case in Judge Aschford's court this morning when the matter was brought unofficially to his attention. As soon as the noon recess of court was taken he went downtown, made an investigation, ascertained that the facts warranted the issuance of a warrant and immediately prepared it.

As the Star-Bulletin went to press Marcallino was held in custody at the police station awaiting the arrival of City Attorney A. M. Brown in order that the matter of bond might be taken up.

The facts of the serious shortage came out, it is understood on reliable authority, when Mr. Egan, becoming apparently dissatisfied with Marcallino's handling of the stocks here, wrote to a personal friend in Honolulu asking him to take over the stock holdings of his estate here. When this friend applied to Marcallino to get the stock Marcallino at first hesitated and then later, the Star-Bulletin is authoritatively informed, admitted that he did not have the stock, that he had sold it, and converted the money to his own use. He said he would make what restitution he could, so the account goes, but there is no prospect, it is said, of his being able to make good.

Two Stocks Involved.
The only two stocks involved are those of the Honolulu Brewing & Malting Company and the Oahu Railway & Land Company. Approximately 1600 shares of stock were involved in the alleged embezzlement. It is not yet known exactly the amount of the shortage. One rumor has placed it as high as $40,000, but the best information today was that it was around $30,000.

Marcallino is said to have covered up his transactions by forwarding regularly to his client on the coast money equal to the dividends declared by the two corporations. Marcallino held Mr. Egan's power of attorney and transacted his personal business here, having known Egan when the latter lived here.

That Marcallino was in trouble was first known last night, following the interview with Egan's personal friend, in which Marcallino is stated to have told of his irregularities. The news went over the city rapidly today.

In Judge Whitney's court this morning an announcement was made of Marcallino's resignation as clerk and the appointment of a successor. This gave rise to a flood of rumor and conjecture.

At noon today no word had come from Egan as to what course to be taken in proceeding against Marcallino, and it is not known whether a civil suit will be filed. Word is expected within a short time.

'WORK, HAWAII!' SAYS RETURNING AD CLUB CHIEF

Wallace R. Farrington, Home from Mainland Trip, Points to Territory's Opportunities

SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON OF COMMERCIAL CLUB

"Spirit of Undivided Americanism is Sweeping Country," He Declares

Ad Club members gave their president, Wallace R. Farrington, a glad and vociferous greeting which penetrated driving sheets of rain half a mile outside Honolulu harbor this morning as the steamer Manos halted temporarily for quarantine inspection.

Returning from three and a half months' trip on the mainland, in the course of which he went from West to East and back West again, the Ad Club chairman and general business manager of the Star-Bulletin found himself on arrival booked for some busy days with talks before local organizations. At noon today he was the guest and principal speaker at the Commercial Club, and at noon tomorrow he will be back in the Ad Club fold again and is expected to furnish a typical Ad Club talk at the regular weekly luncheon.

Mrs. Farrington and their two daughters, the Misses Ruth and Frances, returned on the Manos also. They spent their mainland time in California. Joseph Farrington went East with his father and entered the University of Wisconsin.

The speaking end-of given the Ad Club president on his departure was reiterated in the welcome today. Ad Club boosters chartered a launch and in the gray dawn cheerfully embarked on a somewhat tempestuous sea to meet the steamer off port. J. D. Levenson, carrying a big Ad Club banner and distributing insignia right and left, Charles R. Frazier, W. C. Hodges, R. E. Lambert, Tom Sharp and C. B. Gage were included in the party and they made noise altogether out of proportion to their numbers.

Four other members of the big organization were also aboard the Manos—Jack Milton, Herbert Mist, Robert Mist and Capt. C. J. Campbell. They were greeted by the fellow-club men with great heartiness. As soon as the yellow quarantine flag went down, the Ad Club men swarmed up the pendant ladder and greeted their president.

STRANGE TELLS PROMOTION MEN ABOUT TOURISTS

Harry L. Strange talked to the members of the Promotion Committee this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and in his remarks stated that the one feature that impressed him in his talk with tourists on the mainland was the idea they had of distance.

"Many tourists hesitate on coming to Hawaii on account of the time necessary to make the trip," he said. "It is really surprising the impressions they have obtained of the time necessary to make the trip to Honolulu and back. They think nothing of the trip from New York to San Francisco by rail, but when they find out that the time necessary to come to Hawaii is about the same as that of across the continent they are surprised."

Mr. Strange also stated that he expected that the Gas Congress would meet in Honolulu in 1917. The next congress will be held in Santa Barbara, and Mr. Strange urged the Promotion Committee to boost for the big convention at the meeting next year. "H. P. Wood was doing a great work in San Francisco when I was there, and I feel that Hawaii has done much in her publicity there," said Mr. Strange.

VILLA'S FORCES REPULSED AFTER BATTLE; RENEW FIGHT

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles)

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 2.—After a battle lasting half a day and all night, the conflict between the Carranza forces under Gen. Calles and the Villa soldiers attacking Agua Prieta lullied at daybreak today.

Villa is withdrawing his troops. He plans to renew the attack this afternoon. At 3 o'clock this morning Villa hurled a force of Yaqui Indians against the town but they were repulsed. The cannonading at that time was very heavy. The town of Douglas, just across the border from Agua Prieta, trembled from the explosives, and women became hysterical.

Mines laid by the Carranzistas killed 300 Yaquis.

It is said that Villa retired to secure water and food for his men, who were famishing. Twenty-three hundred refugees are now encamped at Pirtleville, a suburb of Douglas. Eight have been wounded on the American side from the flying bullets. Four soldiers and one woman are among the wounded.

It is reported that 30 women and children have been killed at Agua Prieta, and that an equal number were wounded.

Gen. Funston, commanding the border troops, arrived at the scene today.

At noon machine-guns trained by the Villa forces began sweeping the town from the east.

COL. JOHNSON IS MADE OFFER TO GO TO FAR EAST

Adjutant-general of National Guard Has Not Accepted Malay Position

Rumors that Col. Samuel I. Johnson, adjutant-general of the National Guard of Hawaii, had tendered to Governor Pinkham his resignation, to take effect January 1, were set at rest this morning by a specific denial from Col. Johnson that he had resigned, or that he had even tentatively accepted the offer of any other position.

"No, I have not resigned from the position of adjutant-general," said Col. Johnson this morning. "How the rumor started I do not know, save for the fact that I was recently made a very flattering offer, which I have not accepted."

Col. Johnson would not discuss the matter further, but the flattering offer is understood to have come from interests allied to the East Development Company, in which the Water-houses are heavily interested.

Early in August Col. Johnson returned from a trip to the Far East, during which he inspected timber holdings understood to be under option. The holdings, which are on the Malay Peninsula, in Johore, south of Siam, are understood to have been favorably reported on by Col. Johnson, with the result that the option will be taken up, and a $500,000 corporation organized here to develop the property.

GAILLARD SMART DIES AT FORMER VIRGINIA HOME

*****
Henry Gaillard Smart, widow, or of Anne T. K. Parke Smart, of the Hawaiian home who died of little less than a year ago in San Francisco, died today in a hospital at Charlottesville, Virginia, of meningitis. The news of young Smart's death was received early this afternoon by R. H. Trent, a personal friend of the Smart family. Charlottesville is their home and it was from there that Smart came to Hawaii. On the trip here he met Thelma Parker Smart, the heiress, and their marriage, her death, the sensational legal fight over the estate and the custody of their 19-month-old child, Richard, and now the young widow's death, have followed in rapid sequence, culminating in the news of today which is a shock to the friends of the Virginian. He was about 24 years old.

BEACHWALK FOLK VICTIMIZED BY BOLD BURGLAR

Sneak-thief Enters Houses When Occupants are Gone and Makes the Rounds

Residents of the Beachwalk section of Waikiki have recently been the victims of a series of successful burglaries. To such an extent are the activities of the light-fingered and soft-footed sneak-thief progressing that the Beachwalk people are about on the verge of arming and guarding their homes.

"The most recent burglary, on which the police are understood to be still working, was last Sunday night. The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hayne on Saratoga road, was entered sometime between 8:30 and 10 o'clock and the burglar went through the house deliberately and thoroughly. He apparently wanted nothing but money for he declined to take clothes or jewels. Only about $5 had been left in the house when the Maynes departed. The thief got this. Evidently in pique over his small haul, he then took a suit of Mayne's, put it in the bath-tub and turned on the water.

Two other homes have recently been entered, those of J. J. C. Haynes on Beachwalk, and of F. A. Edgecomb on Saratoga road. The burglar evidently prefers to enter by a window when he can get it open without much trouble. At Edgecomb's, he cut a hole through a screen door, put his hand inside, turned the key, opened the door and walked in. This house had just been finished and the burglar took nothing.

The burglar invariably chooses hours when the occupants of the houses are not at home but seems not to mind the fact that there are neighbors all around.

OFFICER CARTER NABS SOLDIERS WANTED AT FORT

Half starved, wet and with hope of escape gone, Thomas E. Shay and Jesse M. Johnson, soldiers of the 88th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, who were "badly wanted," according to information sent from Fort Kamehameha to police headquarters, were arrested today by Officer Arthur E. Carter, who has been on their trail since they left the barracks October 23. The men said that they had spent several days wandering about the island, looking for work and had had nothing to eat since yesterday. They were wearing fatigue army clothes.

Lieut. Charles R. Baxter, who sent the message asking the Honolulu police to look out for Shay and Johnson, did not state what they were wanted for, and army officials today would not give out any information regarding the charges against them.

Reports that lockers at Fort Kamehameha have been broken open and a number of articles stolen have been heard at police headquarters here, but police officials have no information as to whether Shay and Johnson are suspected of the thefts.

Shay formerly played with the All-Service baseball team of Oahu. He and Johnson were turned over to the military authorities this afternoon by Policeman Carter.

Further trial of the case of James Stewart & Company against Col. Z. S. Spaulding, an action for damages in the sum of $56,000, will be had in Circuit Judge Whitney's court tomorrow morning, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—Secretary of State Lansing has instructed Ambassador Page to ask Great Britain for the grounds upon which a British warship last Sunday seized the steamer Hocking, which was recently changed from Danish to American registry. In official circles it is intimated that the United States will hold that the seizure was illegal.

SHIPS FILLED WITH SOLDIERS APPEAR OFF KAVALA—WAR AGITATION SPREADING IN RUMANIA, SAYS LONDON—TEUTONS DRAW NET CLOSER AROUND NISH—PREMIER ASQUITH SAYS GERMANY HASN'T GAINED A FOOT ON WEST SINCE APRIL

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles)

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 2.—Premier Asquith in a notable speech in the House of Commons today declared that victory is certain for the Allies and that conscription will be unnecessary.

He said that the former Greek premier, Venizelos, in September asked France and Great Britain for the aid of 150,000 troops, on the understanding that Greece would mobilize. Premier Asquith said that he would accept his share of the responsibility for the failure of the first attack on the Dardanelles and the loss of men and ships. He said that the financial situation of the Allies is bad and that it is necessary for the nations to make still greater sacrifices for their cause, but declared that he is confident of ultimate victory and that enforced enlistment among the British will not be necessary.

Announcement was also made that British submarines in the sea of Marmara, close to Constantinople, have sunk and damaged two battleships, five gunboats, one torpedo boat, eight transports and 197 supply boats.

Torpedo Boat No. 06 has been sunk at Gibraltar in collision with a merchant vessel and 11 of the crew are missing.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 2.—Swiss newspapers, in commenting on Prince von Buelow's visit to Switzerland, say that the belligerents are discussing a meeting-place preparatory to a peace conference.

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 2.—The Teutons have captured Cacak, an important railroad junction in Serbia, and on the east front are steadily advancing on Riga.

Rumania Mobilizing Recruits; May Join Allies, Say London Reports

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—Reports are rife here that Rumania, after maintaining neutrality for a long while, is now wavering toward the Allies and is seriously considering joining forces with the Entente powers in active campaigning.

Rumania is mobilizing recruits, according to these reports, and the war agitation in Bucharest and elsewhere in the country is spreading.

Rumania is likely to break with Austria, it is believed, over the use by the Russians of the Danube for the transportation of their troops, Austria claiming that this use of the river is a violation of neutrality which Rumania should not allow.

Asquith Says Teutons Stopped on West; Gives Casualties at 337,000

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—Speaking in the House of Commons today, Premier Asquith declared that Gen. Sir John French, the British commander, now commands nearly a million men. He declared also that the Germans have not gained a foot on the west since last April. He gave the total casualties to date in the Flanders and France fighting as 337,000.

New Expeditionary Force to be Rushed to Balkans, is Belief

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—That a new expeditionary force of Allies will be landed soon in position to reinforce the French and British who have just entered the Balkan war arena is the authoritative report, following news that a number of Allied transports allied with soldiers have appeared off Kavala, Greece. Kavala is on the Gulf of Rentina, and is between Saloniki, where the first expedition was landed, and the Bulgarian frontier. It affords a more direct route to the Bulgaria-Turkey line than by way of Saloniki.

Vienna Says Italy's Attack a Failure

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—Months of fierce mountain and valley fighting by the Italians has failed to dislodge the Austrian lines, according to reports from Vienna today. Claims are made at the Austrian capital that the Italian offense, which has been of the fiercest character almost ever since the war began, has broken down under heavy losses and that the Italians must now stand on the defensive until they can reorganize their forces. Vienna claims that 150,000 men have been lost by Italy in the vain attempt to pierce the Austrian lines in the Trent and Trieste campaigns.

Net Drawn Closer Around Nish

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—Closer and closer the Teutons are drawing the net of armies around the Serbian capital, Nish, say reports today from the Balkan arena. It is now regarded as virtually certain that the fall of Nish is a matter of only a few days or perhaps hours only.

Athens Press Favors Allies Now

LONDON, England, Nov. 2.—The Athens press is favoring the Allies now but still maintaining that for the present Greece should remain neutral.
